Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give advertising "notices" free any more than a merchant can afford to give his counter free gifts of dry goods or shoes. A newspaper is a legitimate business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

1-3 OFF!

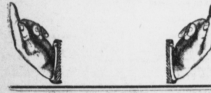

This means that we will sell, beginning today until the 15th of February, every Suit, every pair of Pants, every Overcoat (not a garment is reserved) in our house one-third less than the regular legitimate price.

It is needless to tell you of the merits of our merchandise. No house in the state competes with us in style and quality.

We Handle Only the Highest Grades of Clothing.

Moreover, we never indulge in fake advertisements. You ask why this tremendous reduction in our prices. We answer, do you know that up to date we have not had a week's cold weather all this winter? We are stuck on Heavy Suits and Overcoats and for two reasons must unload. The most important is we need the money for thirty odd thousand dollars worth of clothing on hand. The other reason is our spring purchases are beginning to come in. It will take lots of room for them. Look in our windows and you will see what one third off means.

Y. M. C. A. MATTERS.

What the Local Association is Doing For the City's Young Men.

One of the most encouraging features of the Association work throughout the world today is the hearty indorsement and financial support of prominent business men. One of the warmest friends among this class is Mr. G. N. Bierce of Dayton, O.

Mr. Bierce went to Dayton about thirty five years ago as a poor boy, but through conscientious and persistent efforts has gradually pushed to the front in business circles. Mr. Bierce is a warm-hearted, earnest christian, and has all ways given much time and financial support to the "King's business."

From its earliest days he has been a warm friend to the Dayton Association, having served almost continually as a member of its Board of Directors. For three years he served very efficiently as its President. He has been Chairman of the Ohio State Executive Committee for three years, giving much time in person ally visiting strategic points throughout the state, addressing large audiences on the Association work from the standpoint of a christian business man.

In 1893 he received the distinction of being chosen Chairman of the International Convention which met at Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. Bierce's visit to Maysville in March, 1896, and his address at the beginning of the movement to inaugurate the present Association work in our city, is remembered with great interest and pleasure.

APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC

Property-Holders Asked to Aid Unfortunate Firemen.

HOW THE GOOD WORK GOES ON

The Committee appointed to secure subscriptions for the purpose of rebuilding the Washington Opera-house has issued the following notice:

To the Property-Holders and Citizens of Maysville: On Sunday morning, January 30th, the Washington Fire Company lost by fire their house, together with the Opera house upon which they depended for their support and upon which our citizens depended for an amusement hall.

In the destruction of the building there went up in smoke and flame the hard earnings of the Company, covering a period of 48 years and amounting to over $12,000. They are now without shelter and without a single dollar—nothing left to save their honor. The Firemen of our city have always been faithful to duty in saving your property, and upon many occasions have saved our city from total destruction. It is now proposed, and due time, to rebuild their home, and for this purpose a subscription has been started and a liberal amount secured. Will you be one to assist in this effort by a subscription? Respectfully,

THOMAS A. DAVIS,
ALEX. CALICIOUS,
D. DYE,
WILLIAM H. COX,
HORACE J. COCHRAN.

The Address states the case so fully that it is not deemed necessary to add a word.

Every citizen and every merchant and property-holder is directly interested in this matter, and it is hoped that the response will be prompt, numerous and generous.

Do not wait for the Committee to call on you, but send your name with the amount you wish to subscribe to THE LEDGER office, or give it to any member of the Committee.

A rise of over a foot is reported at Fairmont, on the Monongahela River, and slight rises are also reported on the Allegheny.

The ice has disappeared from the Ohio, and navigation is again unhampered. The packets, while not having all they can do are handling considerable freight and passengers. The Pittsburgh packets have also resumed, and with the beautiful weather we have been having the past few days there will undoubtedly be an increase in passenger traffic.

Rev. Mr. Morrison of Carlisle preached at the Washington Christian Church last Sunday and is expected to preach there again the coming Sun. He is very highly spoken of as a preacher.

Rev. W. T. Starnes received a very painful injury this week by his horse stepping on and bruising his foot, one of the nails since coming off. It has rendered him almost unable to walk.

Who would object to a man or boy that in running out of his coat, etc., in evening being caught at chicken stealing, should run into a whipping post? asks a writer who has long favored the whipping post as the only adequate punishment for crimes of this order, although some wise (?) ones esteem it a relic of barbarism.

Mr. E. O. Piles, formerly of this city, is now a successful sheep-raiser of Ogden, Utah.

A large force of carpenters is now at work on the C. and O. coal elevators at Augusta.

THE PASSPORTS

Of De Lome Returned to Him by the President.

The Disgraced Diplomat, on His Request, Recalled by Spain.

His Recall Was Also Suggested by the American Government. The President's Secretary Will Act in His stead Until a Successor is Appointed.

MADRID, Feb. 11.—At a meeting of the Spanish cabinet held Thursday under the presidency of the queen regent, the minister for foreign affairs, Sr. Gullon, read a dispatch from Senor Dupuy De Lome, the Spanish minister at Washington, saying that the published letter to Senor Canalejas was written by him, and his position consequently had become untenable, and he begged the government to accept his resignation. The cabinet decided to accept the resignation of Senor Dupuy De Lome and the minister subsequently telegraphed to Senor De Lome accepting his resignation and entrusting the first secretary with the conduct of the current affairs of the legation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Minister De Lome's resignation, which he had telegraphed to Madrid, has been accepted.

Shortly after noon Thursday President McKinley sent De Lome his passport.

Spain has thus humiliated her representative to emphasize that government's utter disapproval of the cable from Judge Day Wednesday, that nothing less would satisfy the dignity of this government. It was intimated that if De Lome were not promptly dismissed by his own superior his passport would be forthwith delivered to him and he would be publicly warned by his expellee his departure with the least reasonable delay, so this government would renounce any responsibility for his safety.

Spain has not been slow to recognize the full gravity of De Lome's offensive indiscretion, and to perceive that the severe references to the executive of a nation whose friendship at this juncture is priceless are not fraught with much danger to the national honor of the pitiful weakness and woe of the Spanish cabinet.

In view of the nature of the resignation of the Spanish minister, it may be stated that our government is not disposed to permit him to return to the office of the minister's retirement. In other words, it is not concerned as to whether he resigns or not, but that he leaves the capital. It is true that the exact language of the message sent by the state department to Mr. Woodford, the American president's desire that the minister be recalled, but the language used as to the minister's recall is an occasion and must not be taken to mean that the president is disposed to go further than is necessary in the recall of Mr. Dupuy De Lome.

It is not believed by officials of the administration that the incident will lead to any friction whatever between the two governments, and that the least possible of bringing about the termination of Minister De Lome's stay here was suggested on the ground that it could offend the Spanish government, as it is the recognized right of any government to refuse to receive a representative of another government, unacceptable, and it has been held by writers on international law that it is necessary that any representative be assigned for a request for the recall of a minister.

The acceptance of the resignation of Senor De Lome was fully expected, and occasioned no surprise or change of plans. The effect of the acceptance was to close Senor Dupuy De Lome's services as Spanish minister at Washington. The future status of Senor De Lome is a matter of doubt, but of two courses is open to his government: A recall to Spain or a transfer to another diplomatic post. A recall without designation to another post would leave him in the ranks of the diplomatic service, on waiting orders. This is the position that Senor Canalejas who preceded De Lome here. In another case of a transfer to another post, there are a number of important Spanish embassies and legations available. In some quarters it is thought that the settlement of the Spanish people would approve a transfer of this character, but it is believed to be probable that the Spanish government will wait until the strategy of the incident is over before deciding the future of its retiring minister.

The action of the cabinet in designating the first secretary to act in the affairs leaves a question as to whether Senor Pablo Soler or Senor Dubois will be in the temporary position. It had been understood that Pablo Soler would be named, but at the legation, it was said, nothing was definitely stated until the official notification from Spain was received.

Up to the close of business hours the state department had not heard from Woodford, it is said. However, there was no disposition to question the correctness of the report of the Spanish cabinet action upon his resignation and the opinion is entertained that the matter will be practically settled. It is believed that when Mr. Woodford is heard from it would be in the shape of a message saying that the Spanish government expresses regret at the incident; that the resignation of Mr. Dupuy De Lome makes it unnecessary to go any further in the direction of the request of the president for his recall and announces that the first secretary of the legation will conduct the business in Washington until another minister is named.

VERY PEPPERY.

Editor Canalejas is Urging Spain to War With the United States.

New York, Feb. 11.—The copies of the Madrid Herald received here Thursday, it is apparent that Senor Canalejas is urging Spain to war. He returned to Madrid after his semi-official visit to the United States and Cuba, convinced that Spain should fight not the patriot but the United States. On January 27 Canalejas said in his newspaper:

"Our Cuban problem does not lie in the Cuban woods. It is toward the United States that we must look, toward the white house. McKinley's residence, toward the United States, the filibusters toward New York, the headquarters of the famous Cuban-American syndicate toward Havana. I am sure that our eyes must be turned with no fear, but with courage and persistency."

"I do not declare to be not to be found in the island, but on the continent. We should accustom ourselves to this idea and accordingly get ready for an emergency."

Canalejas continues that all concessions to the United States have been unavailing and useless.

EXTRA GUARDS

Placed Around the American Consulate in Madrid.

MADRID, Feb. 11.—The news of the De Lome incident was received today by the United States minister, Gen. Woodford. The government press naturally ascribed its authorship to the United States. The United States department announcement that De Lome had admitted the genuineness of the letter not being recalled until after the morning. Senor Canalejas was out of town, but his secretary said he had never received any letter from De Lome.

For some time past the authorities have been taking extra precautions regarding the residence of the United States minister, Gen. Woodford, which is on the outskirts of the city. On Sunday the guard was increased by ten men, and it was stated that even this was not considered sufficient. Additional precautions were adopted, evidently under the impression that it could not be considered sufficient, and a number of mounted cavalry units were posted in the vicinity of the minister's residence. The necessity for these precautions since Madrid has offered assistance to a single symptom of justifying such measures.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Gen. Wm. Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, and his son-in-law, Commander Frederick D. The officials think it is superior to that now in use, and the first tests indicate it neither dries on the pad or clogs the stamping machine and penetrates the fiber of the stamp itself to such an extent that it can be erased without destroying the surface of the stamp. The use of the new ink will, it is said, result in a considerable saving to the government, as it will prevent the washing of stamps with a view to their further use, as is now done to some extent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The post office department has introduced a new cancelling ink for use in the service. The officials think it is superior to that now in use, and the first tests indicate it neither dries on the pad or clogs the stamping machine and penetrates the fiber of the stamp itself to such an extent that it can be erased without destroying the surface of the stamp.

How the Cuban Junta obtained the De Lome letter is being carefully guarded and the exact facts are known to only a few of the leaders. Who the man is who brought it to New York remains a mystery and also the manner in which it was obtained from among the papers of Senor Canalejas.

The senate committee on post offices and post roads is not likely to report the nomination of G. F. Potter to be postmaster at Charleston, W. Va. A general understanding has reached to the effect that the senate will not to displace Mrs. Kennan, the widow of the late Senator Kennan, who is present incumbent of the office.

Several Papers Read at the Convention in Mobile.

A National Marine Quarantine Assisting State Maritime Quarantine.

Resolutions introduced for the Establishment of a National System of Quarantine and Health Laws—Line Between State and National Quarantine.

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 11.—There was added attendance at the quarantine convention Thursday. The first paper read was on "Quarantine as it Affects Personal Rights," by Prof. G. D. Sanders of the law department, University of Mississippi. He defined to what extent quarantine law can go without coming in conflict with constitutional rights of citizens, and the section of law it extremely limited. The paper was discussed by Judge J. H. A. Austin, of Mobile, A. L. McLeod, of Mobile, Dr. W. H. Sanders, state health officer of Alabama, read a paper upon "National, State and Local Quarantine, How Best to Apply Their Differences." He held that there must be harmony between the national, state and local quarantine, and harmony would be promoted by making the state supreme in its own borders.

The function of general government being to co-operate with state and local authorities. The system he advocated is a national bureau of public health, in which all states have a voice, and all states have equal rights in making rules and regulations. Such regulations a complete system of local quarantine can be organized. Dr. Sanders outlined details of his plan and in conclusion expressed his strong objection to placing all power in quarantine decided by a central board far removed from the people, and a discussion of this subject followed. Mr. Farrer, of New Orleans, introduced a resolution on the subject of a national quarantine, assisting state maritime quarantine; second, for an interstate compact establishing a uniform system of quarantine and health laws; third, for the creation of United States authorities over localities where placed the national quarantine; fourth, for a definition for a line between state and national quarantine. He referred to the committee on resolutions.

WANTS TO KNOW.

A Correspondent Asks a Few Questions That The Ledger Can't Answer Just Now.

MAYVILLE, Ky., Feb. 28, 1898.

Thomas A. Davis—Dear Sir: You can possibly give some information that would be of interest to the public as well as to the writer.

Why are some offices of the general Government filled by Presidential appointment? Is it to insure having capable officers, who by efficient service to the public may be detrimental to the people?

Does an applicant for such a place require the indorsement of the Congress man of his district or of the Senators of his state? Is it only Presidential courtesy that such legislators are invited to aid in selection?

Do as great and good men as are Congressmen, to gratify personal feelings such as hatred, revenge, etc., ever stoop to "ways that are dark" and scheme to make catpaws of others to rake out their chestnuts?

For instance—was it the proper paper for our Congressman Committee assembled at their own expense and with loss of valuable time by some of them, and by his arbitrary rulings and manipulations have them assume the responsibility of naming his choice for Mayville's Postmaster? This choice he had made and promised long since to both members of the firm.

As this business, so clearly, did not concern them officially, the Committee might well have taken as a precedent the decision of a soldier boy, who was observed earnestly tracing figures with a stick in some convenient sand.

When questioned as to his apparently troublesome problem, he replied, "I am trying to see how I can pay $27 with $10."

"What result?"

"I have concluded not to pay a damn cent, and springing up threw away the stick and pawed out all traces of his figuring."

But I forget myself, only intended asking a question or two. One other if you please.

Will the Committee be expected to assemble at intervals to decide on disposition of Patent Office Reports, Garden Seeds, Fish Spaw, etc., or will our Congressman assume all further responsibility in dispensing his good things?

EDIBLE WEEDS.

Department of Agriculture Tells of Many That May Be Eaten.

Washington, D.C.

The Department of Agriculture believes that in the plant life of this continent may be found many additions to our dietary. Frederick V. Coville, Botanist of the Department, has spent considerable effort to examine many of the plants now classed as "weeds" which are capable of sustaining vitality in man. He takes the position that a "wider use of green vegetables in the dietaries of most people, particularly those with healthy digestions, would be a marked benefit."

Chemistry has demonstrated largely the substances which the human system needs, and Botanist Coville finds the essentials present in a great many plants, some of which are nowhere considered as effective food for man, and some of which have only a local use as human food.

Mr. Coville points out that wild herbivorous animals feed on the fats and carbohydrates stored up in plant seeds in the fall. They fatten on this diet and again in bodily fuel for the winter. Having exhausted their supply of fat by spring, they make green herbage their principal food. This renews their muscular vigor and vitality. This dietary system prevails among savage people, and is largely followed by the Indians of the Western states. Man's food has grown more artificial with the advance of civilization, until, as Botanist Coville says, "foods are now selected more by custom than by instinct." The European races are more given to eating salads and boiled green vegetables than the people of the United States. The greater part of the plant food consumed by Americans is made up of seeds, roots and tubers. It is because of this that the people of this country are bilious.

The first weed which Botanist Coville would have us eat is charlock. This plant grows as a weed from New England to the Pacific Coast, and is considered a troublesome weed in the wheat districts of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northern Dakota. It is closely related to the black mustard, another familiar weed. Charlock is known in New York state as "wild mustard," and is considered poisonous. Charlock was a common pot herb in Northern Europe centuries ago, but it has not been recognized as food for man in the new world.

The leaves of the chicory plant are also good to eat, and in some neighborhoods are thus utilized. It occurs as a weed in the Atlantic and Pacific states, and here and there in the interior. It leaves grow in the form of a rosette, after the fashion of the dandelion. Yellow rocket is a weed common throughout the Eastern states which man might eat. It is closely allied to the winter cress, which is used as a winter salad and pot herb in Washington and Baltimore.

The dandelion is a weed which has already gained considerable favor as a food in the United States, except in the extreme South and West of the great plains, though it has rooted itself in certain parts of Washington and California. The truckers around Paris have been cultivating the dandelion for many years with good results and have developed several horticultural varieties. There it is used largely as a salad, the plants being green or blanched.

The Department of Agriculture calls special attention to the dock, two species of which, the broad-leaved and the curled, occur as common weeds in meadows, pastures and cultivated fields. Several species of dock are used widely as a pot herb in Europe. Dock was used extensively by two tribes of American Indians, the Pimas and the Maricopas. Dock grows in the arid regions of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, where succulent vegetation is rare.

Lamb's quarters, or pig weed, or goose foot, is a weed which belongs to the same plant family as the beet and spinach, and ought to be used as a table vegetable. It is cultivated in Europe, and is very common throughout the United States.

Marsh marigold, or "cowslip," is a native plant of North America. It grows in swamp land all over the Northern part of the United States and British America. It has a local use as a pot herb, but its value in this respect is not generally appreciated. Pig weed occurs in many fields all over this country, but the average American does not know its value as a food plant. It is eaten by the Indians of the Southwest and by the people of Mexico. In some parts of California it is cultivated by the Chinese.

Poke weed is used locally in some parts of the South, but its more general use would be gratifying to the economic botanists of the Department of Agriculture. The French people have introduced this plant into their country, and esteem it highly.

The Department thinks it probable that common nettle, milk weed and round leafed mallow will come to be regarded as good food.

The suggestions made by the Department may be offensive to some people, but then it wasn't so very long ago when the tomato or "love apple" was thought to be poisonous, when the cucumber was looked upon as a fatal dose, and when people of the North were prejudiced against the banana.

SOCIETY

Miss Mary Thomas Cox, assisted by Miss Collins and Miss Boyd, formed a coterie of lovely girls who gave society "dances" a very beautiful afterthought, yesterday. The exquisitely appointed home in which Miss Cox resides was enfeited with the trappings of hospitality, beauty and charm, highly enhanced by lovely maidens and a sprinkling of mechanics, in most bewitching toilet.

Progressive culture was indulged in by 36 guests, who strove for the mastery that they might win the very beautiful prizes which had been promised for the winner. After a spirited contest the victors were declared to be: first prize, Mrs. William Stockett; guest's prize, Miss Abbie Pickett. Immediately following came a dainty and satisfactory lunch, served in the most tempting manner and with the lavish hand of Lady Bountiful. Miss Cox is faultless in her office of hostess, being one of those gracious, ever watchful and anticipatory mademoiselles under whose social care it is a real joy to be placed. Upon this occasion she was queenly in a striking toilet of great beauty, which, because of her poise, style and graciousness, was the glass of fashion and the mould of form. Her guests are most captivating maidens. Aside from rank and high station socially, they bring that culture, accomplishment and inborn qualification which make them great favorites in any community or "400." Miss Collins is a fascinating girl indeed, and in her fetching gown made a lovely picture. Miss Boyd is remarkably handsome, animated and spirited, an afternoon reception toilet that accentuating these points. A more elegant or enjoyable social event has not happened among our social leaders this winter.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Senate Passes the Election Bill—Local Option Bill Reconsidered.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 11.—SENATE.—The local option bill, seeking to make the county the unit in voting on the liquor question instead of the precinct, came up as a special order in the senate. Senators Gresham, Shanks and Alexander asked that the bill be referred back to a local committee for further hearing and to consider the constitutional questions in the bill. After an hour's debate the senate voted to carry over to recommit the bill to the committee on religion and morals, with the understanding that the committee be given the opportunity of the bill in a hearing and report next Tuesday. The election bill providing a board of election commissioners to appoint election officers came up as a special order. An amendment was adopted providing for seating contests in races for governor and lieutenant-governor by selecting a board of five, two from the senate and house. Passed by a vote of 20-15.

Horse Bill Reported Favorably.—To authorize trustees of sixth-class towns to construct streets and sidewalks, to authorize trustees of public works to erect and secure such class to other similar purposes, the expense of auditing property owners, for benefit of poorer times and inmates for paying for time lost in failing to hold horses at proper time, providing that a county may not grant an injunction every, which is a current piece of its duties. The house committee on public health, which was this afternoon to report favorably the bill to require the osteopath licenses to obtain a certain and not a license, was adjourned. Some of the osteopaths are here, but no one has yet taken the substitute offered on the way of a compromise.

WILL NOT YIELD.

The Seven Covington Convicts Prefer to Remain in Jail.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 11.—The seven recidivist convicts passed an easy night behind the bars, and were aroused about seven o'clock, Thursday. With the exception of Counselman Hill, who is slightly indisposed, they all seemed to enjoy their prison fare and breakfast in a hearty manner, and Kentucky corn bread and coffee. Some one smuggled in some cigars and they all enjoyed an after breakfast cigar. The services of a barber were secured and cleanly shaven they awaited the usual summons to the courtroom.

Court convened in the usual manner at 10 o'clock and the seven rebellious ones were again called on to face the judge whose authority they have so persistently defied. None of them show any signs of yielding.

NO APPEAL.

Can be Taken if the Court Records Have Been Properly Kept.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 11.—Lawyers here are of the opinion that Judge Farvin's court can not be appealed from, provided that he has not exceeded the limit of the law in his contempt proceedings. "In this case," said Attorney Webb, "counsel has a right to appeal."

Ex-City Judge Folcomer, who showed himself to be one of the original kind by his decision in dismissing Harris, the slayer of his wife's paramour, said: "If the records in this proceeding have been properly entered no appeal can be taken. I do not know if the court of appeals would take the matter up on simply the notes of a stenographer. The commission certainly have the right to have a corpus proceeding."

ZACK PHILLIPS.

Of Opinion That Judge Farvin's Court Can Not Be Appealed From.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 11.—Attorney Zack Phillips, who is connected with the jurisdiction of the court of appeals in the contempt cases of the Covington commission, said:

"While I have kept posted in simply a cursory way, I am inclined to think that the court of appeals will not interfere in this case. I am of the opinion that the court has the right, but it is a well-established practice of the higher courts to not interfere in contempt cases unless of an unusual nature. Each court has an inherent power to punish in all cases of contempt, and higher courts are inclined to allow a court to preserve the dignity of its own tribunal."

Knife User Arrested.

WINCHESTER, Ky., Feb. 11.—Mike Lynch, who severely cut and wounded Jim Stinnet and Ed Cannon in a fight among railroad laborers here Wednesday, was arrested at Lexington Thursday by Chief of Police Matt Madigan, and is in jail here. He says the men attacked him and he used his knife in self defense. Stinnet and Cannon were removed to the hospital at Lexington Thursday. They are both seriously hurt. Stinnet especially, who is not expected to recover.

Opposed to Double-Headers.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Feb. 11.—A number of citizens of this place are preparing a petition to be presented to Gov. C. Wilson, representing Jessamine county in the lower house of the legislature, asking him to introduce and adopt a bill to prevent the use of double-header engines in hauling railroad cars. It is said that Wilson has had the matter under consideration for some time, and that he heartily favors such a bill and will introduce it next week.

Cut His Throat.

BERY, Ky., Feb. 11.—Joe Lilliston, a feather renovator, who for some months has been in the business with Mr. R. L. Slade, attempted suicide while in a state of temporary insanity Thursday morning, by cutting his throat. There is little hope of his recovery.
